Importance of Food Menu Labelling by Food Business Operators

Menu labelling is aimed at keeping the consumers informed about the calorific value and nutritional content of the food. In India, eating out has become regular nowadays. It is critical for end users to understand what they are consuming. Labelling the requirements of food products is a crucial step toward helping consumers make informed choices while ordering food.

In the recent past, one can witness that the Food Safety and Standards Authority (FSSAI) has served notices to several food service establishments for not complying with the latest norms issued by the regulator on labelling and displaying the calorie count of dishes on their menus. The FSSAI in its notices to restaurants, including some five-star hotels, has warned that those who have failed to comply with its order will have to shut shop.

This Blog is intended to help, and guide regulated food service premise owners and operators to understand and implement menu labelling requirements as per the aforementioned regulations...Read the blog.

Health Star after study of nutrition ratings with algorithm: Singhal

As the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has decided to go ahead with 'Health Star Ratings' for 'Front of the Pack Label (FOPL)', there will be an in-house study for 'Indian Nutrition Ratings' for which an 'algorithm' will help the FSSAI. FSSAI will be introducing 'algorithmic measures' for nutritional ratings for food products through Food Safety Compliance System (FoSCoS), which will decide the product's nutritional value and help the food authority in sanctioning the proposed 'Health Star Ratings' for FOPL. "We're in process of developing an algorithm which would help in generating information about the nutritional value of the product, through FoSCoS," said Arun Singhal, CEO, FSSAI, in an exclusive chat with FnB News.

Telangana HC issues notice to FSSAI over plea to ban energy drinks

The Telangana High Court on Thursday issued notices to the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India to file its counter to a PIL filed by senior paediatrician M. Sivaranjani Santhosh, seeking a ban on energy drinks sold with misleading names, packs, and labels. A bench comprising Chief Justice Ujjal Bhuyan and Justice CV Bhaskar Reddy overruled the Registry Objections and issued notices on the PIL that said that according to Section 3(g) of the Drugs and Cosmetics Act and Clause 27 of Scheduled-K of the Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, ORS is a drug. However, the respondent manufacturers are marketing energy drinks with deceptive names and labels in order to appear to be ORS products. They are heavy in sugars and salts, which can lead to hospitalisation and even death, the PIL said. The petitioner said that earlier, the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO) issued a directive but there was no implementation.
